

APPC's Proposed Revision of MGSC Attendance Policy

Faculty members are expected to maintain an attendance record for all of their classes.

The Middle Georgia State College Student Catalogue states that, "Students whose number of absences is more than twice the number of class meetings per week at the discretion of the instructor. Students who have absences which are less than or equal to the number of class meetings per week

(2013-2014). Students who participate in official college activities at the request of college authorities will not be assessed penalties for these absences. Some schools may have additional attendance policies such as the federal requirements in the School of Aviation.
