COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course is designed to provide the student with the knowledge and skills necessary to perform the duties of a respiratory therapist. The course covers the following topics: anatomy and physiology of the respiratory system, medical terminology, patient assessment, and the use of respiratory equipment.

Promptness, attendance, and their effects on your grade:

Tardiness is disruptive and it is inconsiderate to your classmates and professor. Please come to class before class is scheduled to start. Another reason to come on time is that you will take quizzes at the beginning of class. In order for you to have enough time to complete the timed quizzes, you must be on time. Again, make-up quizzes are not offered.

Due dates:

Due dates for videos and other projects will be posted on D2L. Contact me ASAP if you have compelling, verifiable reasons to need an extension. Otherwise, grades on late work or exams will be reduced half a letter grade for each day it is late.

Technology Requirements: This class will use D2L and students must be competent in D2L usage.

Disability Accommodations: Students seeking academic accommodations for a special need must contact Middle Georgia State University Office of Disability Services in Macon at (478) 471-2085 or in Cochran at (478) 924-2022. <http://www.mga.edu/disability-services/>

This class calls for you to use common courtesv in all interactions with your peers and the instructor. It requires students to listen to each other respectfully and without interruption. You should approach the instructor in a professional manner, including in all of your email correspondence.

Any activity that disrupts classroom activities will result in the student(s) being asked to leave the classroom. These disruptive activities include, but are not limited to,: using a cell phone/notes/emails, bringing children to class, talking during lectures, using a laptop for anything other than taking notes for this class, and making potentially offensive comments. It
