

Document Title

Main body of the document containing the primary text and data.

Section containing production credits and other supplementary information.

Table with multiple columns and rows, containing structured data.

Provide a brief rationale for your program differentiation. Does it include updated disciplinary content? Does it align with the program with state or national norms? Does it promote progression?

These courses in mini production using professional equipment that we could not afford at Midway offer training for students who want to transition directly to the industry in Georgia. Students who desire to take the courses can earn CFA credits toward both the NMAC certificate as well as the Film Certificate from the Georgia Film Academy. Training on this equipment is provided by the Georgia Film Academy.