

Preface by Kirby C. Swenson, MGA Faculty Senate Chair '18-'20: This is a compilation of documents that were used to discuss and vote on topics brought to the MGA Faculty Senate at the during the Spring 2020 academic year. All classes became 100% online due to the outbreak of CoVID 19. As such, in-person meetings were shifted to electronic meetings. What follows are those electronic meetings. July 28, 2020

Faculty Senate discussion of Academic Affairs proposalsend of 1 week, I'll post a second Google Doc si proposals.

Note: It is sometimes easier to see what's been changed by clicking the "Compare Versions" button on the upper left of the screen.

First we have a change in program requirements for the Master of Science in Management. From the proposal:

"The Master of Science in Management program is being expanded to include an Aviation Concentration and a Sport Management Concentration. Both concentrations will provide a graduate option for students currently in our undergraduate Aviation

(Please post questions and comments for the Certificate in Aviation Safety here, be sure to identify yourself)

Lorraine Dubuisson: can this certificate be transferred to an aviation BS like the following certificate, or is it strictly add on top?

.Adon Clark - All of the courses in this certificate are transferable into the BS-ASM degree. LD: thank you, Adon; that answers my question.

Kathleen Burt: I'm not clear on admission standards for this certificate. It sounds like it's aimed at people already working in the field, but is there some kind of formal requirement in terms of academic or professional credentials?

Hazlett: I echo, Kathleen's question.

Adon Clark - While this program is tailored toward people working at the airlines, anyone can enroll in the certificate. The normal SoA certificate standards should be used

Lastly from Aviation, a Certificate in Technical Operations Management.

From the Proposal:

"This certificate is needed to further the skills of the aviation workforce in Technical Operations for Georgia's thriving aviation industry."

(Please post questions and comments for the Certificate in Technical Operations Management here, be sure to identify yourself)
