

Dr. Laura E. Thomason, Director of International Programs
12 April 2016

Our students' education and eventual careers take place in a global context: multinational corporations, international co-workers, and daily life in a connected world.
Internationalization is part of MGA's 2015

e

Offer international opportunities to faculty

Support teaching and research abroad such that faculty are incentivized to participate

Train faculty on study abroad program development and administration